

3
SOPWITH CAMEL — The Sopwith Camel, which joined the western front in the summer of 1917, is claimed to have destroyed more enemy aircraft than any other fighter type in the first world war. Very manoeuvrable, it was nevertheless tricky to fly but was deadly in the hands of an experienced fighter. The Camel had a top speed of 115 mph. Some Camels were used for advanced flying training in Canada after the war. (CANADIAN FORCES PHOTO)

- 30 -

Information Services
Department of National Defence
Ottawa. Tel:-992-7469

PL-120863
June 7, 1967

ARMED FORCES DAY

Camel pilots

SATURDAY JUNE 10, 1967

• A Roy Brown DSC Cdn Capt B7250 - shot down Von Richtofen
• W E Barker VC Cdn Capt 28 Sqn RAF in "B6313" Camel
top scoring Camel of WWI